

/st/ Story: Fill in the blanks to complete the story and draw stopwatch.

Stacy took a hat pin and stuck it in the chair. Stan sat upon the chair and screamed when his bottom hit the pin. Stan stole Stacy's stopwatch and sold it at the _____. Stacy asked _____ where her pin was, and he told her he sold it for _____ cents. Stacy got mad and while _____ were shining up above, she _____ Stan's stationary. The next day, Stan wanted to write to his grandma, but he had no stationary to write on. He knew this story was going to stink if he didn't tell Stacy he was sorry. So, he told her, and she stepped up to the plate and forgave him. Now Stan wants a ladder to stand on. Instead of _____ from Stacy, he just asked her, and she said "yes". "Stealing is not so much fun," said Stan. Sharing is much better.

Word Bank

- | | |
|--------|-------------|
| *store | *stealing |
| *Stan | *stars |
| *stole | *sixty (60) |

/p/ Story: Fill in the blanks to complete the story and draw Peter's Pizza.

Peter picked a peck of pickled _____. His Papa told him to. With pickled peppers in his hand, he did not know what to do. He put them in the basket and _____ up pepper jack cheese. "Can I make a pepper pizza?" he asked his Papa. "Sure Peter, just get some potato chips and _____ to put on the _____. Peter picked them up and put some pizza crust in the cart. Dinner will be the best tonight he thought. After they got home, Peter made his Pepperoni Pizza with peppers, pretzels, pink sauce, and pepperchini's on top. Then made a Pickle Pie for dessert. How many pickled peppers did Peter _____?

Word Bank

- | | |
|-----------|--------|
| *peppers | *pick |
| *picked | *top |
| *pretzels | *Piper |

/r/ Story: Fill in the blanks to complete the story and draw a rat.

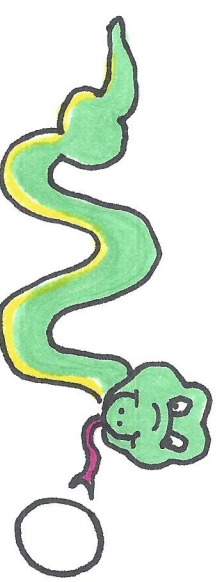

The _____ slid down the hill and on to the road. A green _____ swerved around the rock and _____ into a tree. The driver got out and screamed at the top of his lungs. He was now going to be late to pick up a pet _____ that a teacher was giving him for trimming her rose bushes for free. He began to _____. All he wanted was a pet rat to hold and teach tricks to. Just then, a lady drove by and pulled over to see if he needed help. She offered to take him to the teacher's house so he could pick up his pet rat. She also offered to call his parents to see if they could get a tow _____ to come and get his car and bring it to the repair shop. He was so happy he gave her a big hug and then got into her car and together they drove down the road to the teacher's house.

Word Bank

*rock *rat

*car *cry

*ran *truck

/sn/ Story: Fill in the blanks to complete the story and draw a snake.

Dan had a silly snake, his name was Snorkel Sneed. Whenever Dan would feed his _____, it was very happy indeed. Snorkel liked to _____ on salmon, swordfish, and sushi. He was not a normal snake, he was different. At night he _____ outside when nobody was looking and slithered across the lawn looking for snow to suck on. Dan knew he had a different kind of snake, so he took a _____ of his snake looking for slushy snow. Now, Dan makes _____ cakes for his special Snorkel Sneed. For he knows that his snake is a special kind of breed. Fish and snowballs are what he likes to eat, and Dan always makes sure he has plenty for his best friend Snorkel _____.

Word Bank

*snake

*snapshot

*snack

*snow

*snuck

*Sneed